Dr. Howell, Ph.D. has taught plant systematics and biology courses at ACM since before the giant sequoias sprouted. Among other responsibilities he teaches: forest biology, botany, environmental science, and many of the biology courses. He also oversees the college's arboretum, greenhouse, and is an advisor to the Veterans club.

Ms. Rafter teaches at all three campuses focusing on General Biology, Environmental Science, and Geology. She is currently revising our Bio 101 lab sequence and works on several NSF partnership grants.

Dr. Howard Kramer is a professor of Biology. He is the coordinator of General Biology and teaches this course, Human Anatomy, and General Biology 2. He is an active member of the Audubon Society.
